Mr. J. W. Bankhead and daughter, Mildred, of Lowville, and Mr. Henry Hardee of Lowville, Mrs. W. E. Sanders of Guhrville, and Miss Mary Bankhead of Bullock's Creek, are attending commencement at Clemson College this week. Captain Joseph G. Nichols, U. S. A., arrived in Yorkville last night on a visit to his mother, Mrs. M. E. Nichols. He drove through the Port Bonning Gap, in his car, leaving Atlanta at about 6:30 yesterday morning and reaching Yorkville at about 8:30 P. M. Captain Nichols has a family of two months. The Rock baseball boys have definitely advanced President Moore, of the Palmetto league that they will be in with a team. That completes the league in Yorkville, Chester, Rock Hill, Union. There is room for two more teams if they want in, but whether they come in or not the Palmetto league is ago. Ernest Jackson, of Yorkville, qualified as a member of the county board of registration yesterday, and the board was reorganized by the election of L. D. Givins as chairman, and Alfred E. Clinton as secretary. The only other business transacted was the preparation of the registration list for McCondeville school district in readiness for the approaching election on the proposed bond issue and the proposed new school house. There were no applications for registration certificates from any source. York county's part of the state gasoline tax for the month of May, as announced by State Treasurer Carter on Saturday, is $1,650.01, which will be sent to County Treasurer Nell this week in the form of a check. The total distribution to the various counties is $46,257.79 from the gasoline tax for May. Charleston county paid the largest amount of gasoline tax last month, $14,578.93. Jasper county draws the smallest amount from the May tax, its portion being $154.78. The total tax receipts for the past month are distributed as follows: The State gets $40,262.77; the highway department, $50,588.77; and the county, $1,650.01. The highway department will take quite a while for York county to raise enough chickens for home consumption, but York county should remember after all that it is the foreign market that fixes the price. A glut in the local market with no foreign market would make a hardship on the farmers; but with an established foreign market poultry raising will be stabilized. As a fact, it has been found that the foreign market that has put the price of chickens up to where it is now. Let's have more chickens. There is no reason why the county business. There is a certainty that poultry raising can be made a big thing in York county. The case of the State vs. William C. Farley, now in the supreme court on appeal from a verdict of a York county jury, was reported in the New York Times. Taylor, will not be heard until next October, at least. This case is appearing in the June 10th issue of the paper, collected by the Supreme Court of the State vs. John R. Hart, of Clark of the supreme court, with the result that the case is about to be sidetracked. Accordingly they are now seeking to have the case advanced in accordance with the recent act of the general assembly, which especially seeks quick disposal of criminal appeals. There is to be a special term for the week following June 25, and as matters now stand, this special term will furnish the last opportunity for the hearing of the case before October during July, August and September. There seems to be no certainty that Messrs. Solicitor Seagr and Hart will appear in the case, as advanced—Yorkville Enquirer.

GIRL BANDIT SUGHT BY CHICAGO POLICE

No Trace Found of Slayer of Teacher at His Home
Chicago, June 6.—Search for the girl bandit who shot and killed Richard C. Teemer, insurance adjuster, while she and a male companion were robbing him and his wife last night, was being made by police, who tonight have one man under arrest and are following what they assert are several promising clues. Irving Schlegel is being held on the supposition by police that he was with the woman, who shot Teemer, as that he knows the identity of the couple. A picture of a girl resembling in general the girl bandit, found in Schlegel's possession, was identified by him as a girl he had not even for several months and knew only as "June". Schlegel, according to police, has been arrested several times as a robbery suspect. Search is also being made by Jessie Marie Morelock, forced to leave her home last night in the company of a chauffeur, according to her sister, Melinda Scott, who said she had not been seen since. Mrs. Teemer said a picture of Miss Morelock resembled the girl bandit. State's Attorney Crowe, styling the crime as "cold blooded as any ever committed by a man," declared the death penalty would be demanded if the woman is brought to trial.

DOG TAX CAUSING MUCH DISCUSSION

Many Inquiries of Different Natures Have Been Made Recently
Columbia.—The dog tax is still the cause of much discussion throughout South Carolina. Echoes of it are reaching the ears of the people in Columbia. The dog tax is the subject of opinions on various phases of its enforcement. Many recent inquiries regarding the law have been received in Columbia. Thomas G. Schlegel, publisher of the Christian Herald, told the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World today. "They have no sound advertising proposition," he said, "because they are offering the public so little that their services are not ready for a broader public." "The church, of course, has many functions," he said, "but a primary one is to furnish an appealing place of worship for the encouragement of the religious and spiritual in the community. The other functions of the church are largely dependent upon this and, therefore, the object of church advertising is to increase church attendance." "The church, of course, has many functions," he said, "but a primary one is to furnish an appealing place of worship for the encouragement of the religious and spiritual in the community. The other functions of the church are largely dependent upon this and, therefore, the object of church advertising is to increase church attendance." The other functions of the church are largely dependent upon this and, therefore, the object of church advertising is to increase church attendance."

Hold yourself responsible for a higher standard than anybody else expects of you. Never excuse yourself. Never pity yourself. Be a hard master to yourself and be lenient to everybody else.—Beecher.

DISCUSSES RELATION OF CHURCH TO ADVERTISING

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5.—Many churches as constituted at present are not ready for advertising their services. Graham Patterson, publisher of the Christian Herald, told the annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World today. "They have no sound advertising proposition," he said, "because they are offering the public so little that their services are not ready for a broader public." "The church, of course, has many functions," he said, "but a primary one is to furnish an appealing place of worship for the encouragement of the religious and spiritual in the community. The other functions of the church are largely dependent upon this and, therefore, the object of church advertising is to increase church attendance." GOVERNMENT MIGHT HAVE TO OWN RAILS

Chicago.—William Jennings Bryan in addressing the National railway conference called for Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and others of the "progressive bloc" in and out of congress, declared today that he did not like to think of government ownership but was afraid it might be forced on the country. The great reform of the Democratic party said that 24 years ago he had suggested government ownership of the railroads but asserted that he "feared centralization of power in Washington." He declared that he did not make men pool enough to withstand the temptations of monopolistic control. Mr. Bryan said he had been reformer for 42 years and that for 35 years he had been actively interested in the transportation problem. Referring to "blocc" in congress, he said that the Democratic party of his party said there is nothing new in such a term, that there had been friends friendly to financial interests long before the term was used and that those blocs were always on the job. The term "blocc," he said, now merely means a man who represents the public interest. He had been made very happy, he continued by the triumphs of reform in the last 25 years, the greatest period of human progress in all ages.

SHOCK FOR REPUBLICANS, DECLARES CORDELL-HULL

Washington, June 6.—Chairman Hull of the Democratic national committee declared tonight in a statement that the "robbed Republican Eighteenth congressional district of Iowa at a special election Monday repudiated to the Republican claims of President Harding's party growing popularity in the West and the wonderful benefits of the Republican tariff to the farmers by giving the Republican candidate for congress a bare 1,000 majority in a district normally Republican by between 8,000 and 9,000." "After two years of Harding high tariff 'protection,'" the statement added, "these figures reveal the extent of the revolt among the independent and reverse farmers not only of Iowa but in the great West. This election reversed amounting to a Democratic victory presages a political revolution in 1924. It also proves that the Democrats are alert, united and great for the fray." The election referred to by Mr. Hull was held to fill the vacancy in the house caused by the resignation of Horace M. Towner, now governor of Puerto Rico.

ARREST TWO MEN AND SEIZE CAR

Great Falls Officers Get Brewer and Sanders
Columbia, June 7.—Earle Brewer and J. R. Sanders, young white men, were arrested early yesterday morning at Great Falls on charges of grand larceny and were brought to Columbia to stand trial. Brewer and Sanders are charged with taking a Ford car belonging to the Red Circle Filling station. "Columbia police were advised Tuesday that a stranger had taken a used car from a man who rented the car at the filling station and notices were sent to various towns. Brewer and Sanders were arrested yesterday morning and the Columbia police were advised of the arrest and seizure." Detective Allen and W. H. Harth left yesterday morning for Great Falls to get Brewer, Sanders and the car and the party reached Columbia at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The two men were lodged in the city prison and charges of grand larceny were docketed against them. They were docketed against after arrest was docketed against Brewer. The arrest of Brewer and Sanders, the climax to an unusual proceeding. A stranger hired a car at the filling station Tuesday and a short time after he left the place he returned and advised the clerk that another man had stolen the car. The man said he was asked to hire the car by a man who claimed to be intended to open several stands in Columbia and wanted to show him around. The man said he had had trouble over much territory before his newly found friend disappeared with the car. Officers worked on the case and the notice of the detention of Brewer and Sanders reached headquarters early yesterday morning. The two men will be given a hearing before the sitting court.

TO ASK LORD TO DELIVER STATE FROM BOLL WEEVIL

Governor McLeod Issues Special Proclamation at Instance of Christian People
Columbia, S. C., June 6.—Governor McLeod tonight issued a proclamation asking on the people of the state to observe next Sunday, June 10, as a day of humiliation or prayer, that the Lord may deliver the state from the ravages of the boll weevil. The proclamation sets forth that it is issued at the request of the Southern Bible River Presbyterian church of Sumter county and the Business Men's Christian club of the city of Columbia, and other Christian men and women. The governor calls on church people, individually and collectively, to invoke their aid and implore divine aid, and he urges the ministers to preach sermons to this end. He also calls on the people of the state to use the means at their disposal for fighting the weevil, believing that God often helps those who help themselves.

WORKED HARD FOR DIPLOMA

Completed College Work in Midland Life, Was Successful and Was Admitted to the Law at White Hall in Anderson Hospital
A white faced man past 40 years of age, lying on a hospital cot, the air heavy with the odor of disinfectant, nurses moving quickly and quietly between the ward, and a tall man with clean cut academic face standing near the cot, speaking quietly. Surely a strange setting for the delivery of a college diploma. This ceremony which usually takes place with the maximum of publicity. Yet in such a setting John P. Due West was made recently a patient at the Anderson hospital, received his degree and thus realized an ambition that has been with him through the years. He was delivered in the hospital ward by Dr. John L. McCain, head of the English department at Erskine, who made a most happy speech. It was no ordinary occasion. More than 20 years ago Mr. Presley was a student at Erskine. When a senior he was forced to give up his studies on account of his health and was sent to the Adirondacks for treatment. When he returned to Duane West was made president of the Abbeville County Bible Society, a member of the board of school trustees and held other positions of trust and responsibility. But always, in the recesses of his mind, there remained a desire for his diploma and his degree from Erskine, which his father had attended. And he began studying, somehow finding time to "brush up" on his subjects and to famouse the new textbooks. And this year he stood his examinations, taking them at the same time as the other students and passing them with one exception. Some time ago he was taken ill and was carried to the hospital in Anderson for treatment. It was there that he received his "diploma" after having been out of college more than 20 years. The delivery of the diploma under such unusual circumstances and after so brave and determined a struggle attracted considerable comment. Some men may regard their diplomas as mere pieces of parchment, but John Presley is not one of those. Mr. Presley has improved greatly since receiving his diploma and has returned to his home at Due West. His friends now look for his complete recovery.

The Nation's Biggest Business

By Dr. Frank Rogers
According to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, agriculture is an industry with a capital investment of $78,000,000,000, including $20,000,000,000 in land. It is the nation's biggest business. The average investment, he declares, in land, buildings, equipment and other plant according to the last census, was more than $12,000 per farm. One-fourth of all the gainfully employed persons in the United States are engaged in agriculture. It is being brought home more and more to the farmer that he is not only a business man. The days are over when the farmer lived on his own produce or sold it to the neighbor. He could not make himself. Nowadays the farmer buys for money and sells for money. He has to keep books and watch his market.

BRIEFLY TOLD.

Farmers of Northern Wisconsin are mixing honey and water and using the preparation as an anti-freezing agent in the radiators of their automobiles. Ten pounds of honey with an equal amount of water will last through the winter and the solution is effective even at a temperature as low as 20 degrees below zero. A flock of Rocky Mountain goats are shipped to from about the buildings at the naval powder factory at Indian Head, Maryland. The goats devour the dead leaves and other inflammable material, thereby protecting the powder house from fire. Blueberries seven-eighths of an inch thick have been produced at the United States Department of agriculture testing station at Whitehouse, New Jersey. A will of Stuyvesant Fish makes three children equal beneficiaries in the estate which amounts to about $2,500,000. A sentence in the will reads as follows: "Having observed and always believed charitable bequests afford the testator a means of gratifying his vanity at the expense of his life, I make (God willing) the following bequests: A new cable, the largest ever laid in the Atlantic, will be laid by Atlantic Cable Co. of New York and London. The route will be from New York to Nova Scotia, a distance of 1,000 miles. From Nova Scotia, approximately 1,750 miles. There it will connect with a cable already laid to Europe. Among the famous inventions of the Chinese are the following: The compass, printing, lithography, suspension bridges and gunpowder. German buyers are boycotting the world-famed couturiers of Paris. The French designers lament that, since the occupation of the Ruhr by French troops, the import of French models by Germany has dwindled. Many Berlin firms are producing their own fashions which they present to the buyers by means of artificial mannequins. At Tell-Neh-Mendahi, in Syria, a large city of the Hittites, and at Djibrali, the Phoenician Byblos, are excavated fragments of large inscriptions which clearly prove the presence of Egyptians in Syria during the third dynasty. These Egyptian colonists exported from their valuable varieties of wood. Many Japanese are going to South America because of the American prejudice against them. The press of Japan is urging them to take advantage of the lenient immigration laws of the United States. An Antwerp carpenter bought a second hand dealer, an old picture of which the subject was Jesus being crucified. The picture was painted in the year 1640 and the signature of Rembrandt. The painting is said to be the first of its kind. One of the sons of Wales is an adept rap drummer. Christmas trees drawn up from the depths of Lake Michigan, of the two rivers, Wisconsin, and Michigan, were the first evidence of the fate of the schooner Rouse Simmons, laden with Christmas trees for the Chicago trade, which disappeared from the face of the water in December, 1912. The bodies of the crew were never recovered. One reason why farmers in the past have had a reputation for being close and narrow was that they saw little money. About all their money was in such unliquidated form as land, stock and tools. The farmer took his produce to the stores and got his pay in flour, tobacco and clothing. His life was a life of isolation. Little by little the farmer has realized that he needs the cooperation of his neighbors. Successful enterprises exist in various sections of the West. It is generally thought to be that the full benefit of the nation's vast brains and organizing ability. Life on the farm is pleasant nowadays than it used to be because of telephone and automobile, newspapers and magazines. With increasing development farm life is becoming more and more attractive. Physically considered, the country is a much healthier and happier place than a human being may live than in any city. As inventions increase and organization is perfected the people will move more and more to live their life in the country. The trend of the world is toward an increasing city will be changed.

FRIDAY, JUNE 8.

Governor McLeod is to be commended in issuing a proclamation setting aside next Sunday, June 10th, as a day of prayer in the churches of South Carolina, "for deliverance from the ravages of the boll weevil."

It is well for man to stop in the pursuit of worldly things and to be brought face to face with the fact that a Supreme Being exists and that after all is said and done, it is in Him that we must put our faith.

We do not know why a just and all-wise God has sent the boll weevil into the cotton belt. It could be a million reasons, but to our mind, God in all His wisdom, has an object in view. It may be to try man. If God is trying you, what are you going to do? Sit down and whine? We hope not. We do not believe it is the intention of an all-wise Father for man to get what he wants without any effort. Things which come to us without an effort are seldom appreciated. It is those things for which we have to WORK that are the most precious in this life, and the writer firmly believes that the boll weevil is a blessing in disguise. If we people of the Southland, we people of the Cotton Belt, would only wake up to the advantage which a Gracious Father has placed at our hands, how happy He would make us.

The News hopes the people of Chester county and South Carolina on next Sunday bow their heads in humble submission to Almighty God and ask Him to give us the strength and the brain to go onward in Christianity; give us worldly things in order that we might do things for the poor, the illiterate and unfortunate mankind; but God deliver us from man who wants money and station in life for selfishness.

Again The News would say that it does not believe that one thousand acres of power by every soul in South Carolina will deliver us from the ravages of the boll weevil. The man who prays and does nothing will never be delivered from the boll weevil or anything else. You must be up and doing; you must use the brain and the brawn which a Maker has given you and if God blesses you will wealth, you are a complete failure and He turns a white unless you do with the wealth as He wishes you.

Now your head in humble submission and then WORK, WORK, WORK.

Mr. Workman, what kind of overalls are you wearing? What kind of shirt are you wearing? What kind of meal and flour do you eat?

Why don't you demand Carolina products? Don't you know that if every workman in the Carolinas would demand Carolina products, that the workman would have more jobs in North and South Carolina in less than one year than he could ever give over. This would be to your personal benefit and to the personal benefit of your friends.

When you wear a work shirt made in Michigan, that benefits the workman in Michigan. When you wear a shirt made in the Carolinas you help the Carolina workman and the more jobs he has, the better pay the Carolina workman will get.

The workman of the Carolinas cannot expect real good times in the working line so long as we use goods made in distant states. Don't deny your own Scotch-Irish-Demand Carolina products.

The supposed skull of the Tertiary Period, found in Patagonia some time ago is merely a curiously shaped stone and of no scientific value, according to a committee of eminent scientists at the Buenos Aires and La Plata museums of natural history which has carefully examined it. At the time of its discovery great excitement was caused throughout the scientific world as it was supposed to be the oldest trace of mankind in existence.

Big Crowds Continue To Attend The Brown Meeting

Interest in the Brown meeting continues to grow - and in the big mammoth at each meeting can be seen people from far and near. Attendance has materially increased at the morning services, due to the closing of the various places of business during the morning hour.

It is hoped and expected that the people will fill the big tabernacle to overflowing Sunday on which day, Brother Brown will deliver three soul-stirring messages.

Sunday morning he will preach on "Revivalism," Sunday afternoon, "Cain's Wife," Sunday evening, "Where Satan Sows His Seed."

There will be no services Saturday morning but at three thirty Saturday afternoon Mr. Brown will deliver a message to woman and girls only.

Large delegations have attended the meetings this week from the Eureka and Springville Mills and a delegation will attend from the Fairview Mills Saturday night.

Once upon every man and every woman comes an almost irresistible impulse to heed the wailing of the "Crying of the Lord." "That's the golden opportunity. It should be availed of, else the spirit may depart, grieved, and both the opportunity and the soul lost."

This was the over-note of Evangelist John Brown's address before a large audience last night. "Crossing the Dead Line" was the subject. The seriousness of the theme impressed both speaker and audience and the much-provoking words which are so notable a feature of the revivalist's platform were conspicuously absent last night.

"My spirit shall not always strive with you," the speaker quoted the warning of Holy Writ with telling effect in his discussion of the unpardonable sin—the sin against the Holy Spirit.

He was at pains to accentuate the fact that the sin against the Holy Spirit is not so defined as a specific offense against the mandate of God. This sin is, rather, cumulative, the result of continued refusal of the wailings of the Spirit. A man may be an outbreathing offender against the laws of God and yet repent. A man may be a sinner and yet be a good man. The degree is in the refusal to heed the calls, to obey the impulses, to seek Christ. "God can't pardon a man who is penitent," declared the speaker in a striking illustration of his definition of the sin against the Holy Spirit—the "crossing of the dead line." "Continued refusals of the Spirit's promptings and appeals brings a man or woman to the point where they cannot repent—not that they would not—but that they cannot—the Spirit has departed from them, he said.

The speaker stressed the faith faculty inherent in every man and every woman. "You've got the faith faculty, just as you have the faculty of seeing," he declared, "and it's up to you to use that faculty."

"When a man gets to the place where all he can enjoy is money; when a man gets to the place where all he can enjoy is dress and society; when the people get to the place where all they can enjoy is pleasure, in that time the Lord will say 'Let them alone.' On the other hand, 'If there's an honest desire in heart, the spirit of God put it there, and that hunger, that prompting should be heeded, lest it depart forever.' Thus the speaker drew the "dead line" with the warning, "When the spiritual darkness tells you good-bye, may He have mercy on your soul, for it's good-bye forever."

The responsibility for the decision he put squarely up to the individual. "Every one has at least one chance to accept Christ and be saved. If you lose that chance you have no more to blame but yourself. When the Spirit departs, there's only darkness and death," declared the speaker as a prelude to his invitation: "Are you in the ark of safety? If you're not, forget everything else and get in." "Are you going to be one of those who knock at the door only to find it closed and all admittance denied?"

tion by the Legislature, peculiarly fortunate in its personnel. The members have consistently worked for the good of the State at large rather than for any particular communities, townships, or counties.

"Road building has its Legislative end, as well as its Administrative end. In this state under our system of yearly sessions of the General Assembly, with many acts passed at each session, it is especially necessary to see that no harmful legislation is passed. On the other hand, organizations devoted to the development of the good roads of the state, and the officials in securing such legislation. The State Highway Commission must necessarily look to the development of a state system, and the progress of this work in the form of the state rather than in terms of the county. The proceeds from special taxes, such as the gasoline tax, should be spent by the State Highway Commission on the state system, leaving the county levies for the county roads.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. B. H. Heyward, of Fairfield county, one of the Vice-Presidents. Col. A. L. Gaston, president, having been called away.

Short speeches were made by J. L. Glenn, Jr., of Chester; Chas. H. Moorfield, State Highway Engineer; T. B. Spratt, of Rock Hill, a member of the State Highway Commission; Col. T. B. Spratt, of Fort Mill; J. T. Roddy, of Rock Hill; E. Meador, of Ridgeway; W. A. Douglas, of Wintona; W. M. Patrick, of Woodward; and E. R. Lucas, of Chester, Col. A. L. Gaston, of Chester, President of the Association, was unavoidably called away, and could not be present Wednesday. The Association expressed its appreciation and thanks to the State Highway Commission by a rising vote of thanks.

The program at the meeting was: E. R. Lucas, J. M. Wintona, L. Glenn, Jr., H. S. Adams, of Chester; John T. Roddy, Roddy Reid, C. H. Byrum, Dr. W. W. Fennell, of Rock Hill; T. B. Spratt, A. H. R. S. Meat which you buy does not originate in the packing houses.

Behind the packing houses and the stock yards are the millions of acres of land devoted to the raising of live stock and food for this live stock.

How live stock reaches the market; how it is purchased; how it is handled in its transformation into meat; and how this highly perishable product gets into the hands of retailers in every city and village, make an interesting story.

The handling of by-products also furnishes some interesting facts.

Hides, for example, are not bought by the ultimate consumer.

Glue is used by manufacturers of many articles.

Wool is of little use to the wearer of clothes until it is worked up into merchantable articles.

A number of Chester county people are under the impression that the highway commission and Great Falls is a part of the State Highway. An effort was made to get the road into the highway system, but one of the State Highway officials recently informed The News that it was not done on account of the fact that the road below Great Falls, in Fairfield county, was not turned over. This means that the road over Great Falls must be maintained by Chester county and not by the State Highway commission. A provision was made at the last legislative session of the maintenance of the Chester-Great Falls road.

Don't Burn Plant Soy Beans.

Some people get poor stands of soy beans and others get no stand at all simply because they plant too deep—too much dirt on them. Soy beans will not come up if planted too deep, no matter how good the seed are.

Two lots of seed that parties claiming to be a dealer had come up were recently tested. One lot in which there was 12 per cent apparently dead seed gave 86 per cent germination in the seed bed laboratory. Another lot, tested in the field gave 92 per cent germination in four days without rain. Yet it was claimed that none of them would come up!

Poor seedbeds poorly prepared are responsible for much of the blame given seeds, and for great loss on the part of the planter of the seeds. Remember that two inches in some soils is too deep to plant soy beans. Planting one inch deep is best prepared soil, putting them down with a planter with a roller presser will avoid nearly all the loss from poor stands.

STATES URGED TO EXPEDITE BUILDING OF MAIN ROADS

The principal highways of every State should be constructed as rapidly as the available supply of labor and materials permit. They should be constructed and maintained by the State highway departments and they should be paid for by the people of the States as a whole, according to Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture.

Mr. MacDonald says that actual road tests have shown that the annual saving in gasoline alone on the more important roads will, in some instances, more than pay the yearly cost of such roads, including a proper distribution of the first cost. The public pays for good roads whether they own them or not. This fact alone, without regard to the increased need for highway transportation to supplement the railroads, "the safety and ease and car on vehicles, and the social, recreational, and educational advantages of good roads in rural sections, Mr. MacDonald says, should cause the States to proceed with their improvement of their main roads as fast as physical limitations permit.

The burden of building and maintaining the main State roads must be shouldered by the State, in Mr. MacDonald's opinion. It is not fair to expect a county to provide for the construction and upkeep of the main State roads within its borders when, as is generally the case, the traffic on such roads causes a great part from outside of the county. The attempt to finance the improvement of such roads has been the cause of bringing a good many counties to the point where they are not able to properly provide for the feeder roads, which should be their principal concern, because their credit is tied up in a relatively short mileage of high-priced roads which should have been built with State funds.

BRIEFLY TOLD.

In Austria paper money is now counted by weight. A money market rate in Vienna paper quotes: "Kronen: 10,000 kilogram 0.35-0.37."

Dr. S. K. Merdis, head of the rural education of Ohio State University, at Columbus, said: "No person, either native or foreign-born, should be permitted to vote until able not only to read and to write the English language intelligently, but until they have a well-grounded knowledge of our government and a patriotic conception of the true spirit of the free institutions of America."

Since prohibition became effective in the United States exports of Irish and Scotch whisky from Great Britain to various West Indian islands off the American coast and to Mexico has increased 2,000 per cent, according to figures compiled by the Commerce Department.

Rubber is now being transported to this country from the East Indies in the form of latex, loaded up in the blocks and sheets known to the trade since the beginning of its history. Tank cars for latex will soon be a familiar sight on the railroads. Later, is the white sap of the rubber tree from which rubber is made. By the use of ammonia the product is made without risk of hardening.
